1959. Photocopies may be purchased from the Photoduplication Service, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D. C.) Includes translations of the following articles from Non Lam, no. 1, January 1959: "How to Increase the Catch of Salt-Water Fish," by Hoang Xuan Hai; and "Fresh-Water Fish Breeding During Winter-Spring Season," by Nguyen Sung.

VIRGINIA:

Treasures from the Sea, The Virginia Seafood Industry, by Robert S. Bailey, Educational Series No. 10, 24 pp., illus., processed. Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, Gloucester Point, Va., 1959. Easy and informative reading for the layman, this booklet tells the story of Virginia's fisheries from colonial times until the present day. Information is given on changes in value and composition of the catch, details of finfish, shellfish, and sport fisheries; and the role of the public in conservation and proper utilization of fishery resources. Tables and drawings depict average annual values and catches of five species between 1931-55, 1956 landings by gear, and other statistical data concerning Virginia's fishing industry.

WHALES:

"Treating and Processing of Whale Meat to Meat Products," by Otto Roemmele, article, Die Fleischwirtschaft, vol. 10, 1958, pp. 833-835, printed in German. Die Fleischwirtschaft, Verlagshaus Sponholz GmbH, Kockstrasse 60-61, Berlin SW68, Germany

WHALING:

Whaling Operations in the Antarctic, Season 1958/59," article, Norsk Hvalfangst-Tidende, vol. 48, no. 9, September 1959, pp. 452-464, 467-468, 471-476, illus., printed in Norwegian and English. Norsk Hvalfangst-Tidende, Sandefjord, Norway. A survey of the whaling operations in the Antarctic in the season 1958/59 prepared for and submitted at the meeting of the International Whaling Commission in London in June 1959. Covers the most important regulations governing pelagic whaling in the season 1958/59 and gives the number of factoryships and catching boats which have been engaged in pelagic whaling since 1945/46 and average gross tonnage. The catch and oil production of the individual expeditions, the output of byproducts, and related statistics concerning the whaling operations in the Antarctic during the season 1958/59 are presented.
