CONTENTS

COVER: U. S. D. I. (U. S. Department of the Interior) fishery inspector in a Texas shrimp breeding plant making final check of breaded shrimp before it goes into the freezer. Some 62 part-time and full-time U. S. D. I. fishery inspectors in 40 plants in the United States now inspect fishery products to assure top-quality products for the consumer. In 1963, a total of 215 million pounds of fishery products were inspected by U. S. D. I. inspectors.
