

COMMERCIAL FISHERIES REVIEW

A REVIEW OF DEVELOPMENTS AND NEWS OF THE FISHERY INDUSTRIES
PREPARED IN THE DIVISION OF COMMERCIAL FISHERIES

A. W. Anderson, Editor

F. F. Johnson, Associate Editor

C. R. Lucas, Assistant Editor

Applications for COMMERCIAL FISHERIES REVIEW, which is mailed free to members of the fishery industry and allied interests, should be addressed to the Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, United States Department of the Interior, Washington, 25, D.C.

The contents of this publication have not been copyrighted and may be reprinted freely; however, reference to the source will be appreciated. The Service assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of material from outside sources.

CONTENTS

Cover: Along the Pacific Coast from California to Alaska, preparations for summer salmon fishing are in evidence throughout the spring months. This is a chinook salmon gill net, characterized by large meshes and equipped with cedar "corks" or floats.

Source - Office of War Information.

	Page
THE ARMY'S WARTIME FISHERY RESEARCH, by Frank Piskur	1
Fishery products were adapted to war purposes as a part of the Army's broad program.
A TRIPOD DERRICK FOR SMALL FISHING VESSELS, by Boris O. Knake	10
A fishing captain offers a new boom to facilitate small boat operation.
FISHERY RECEIPTS AT SEATTLE, 1945, by Edwin C. Hinsdale	14
Seattle's record 1945 receipts were 32 percent over the 1944 total.
FISH JAW OIL, by Joseph F. Puncochar	18
A small New England fishery has long furnished oils for America's precision instruments.
SECTIONAL REVIEWS (Middle Atlantic, Chesapeake, and South Atlantic)	20
TECHNOLOGICAL RESEARCH IN SERVICE LABORATORIES	24
FRESH AND FROZEN FISH	28
CANNED AND CURED FISH	33
FISHERY BYPRODUCTS	35
OTHER FISHERY NOTES	36
FOREIGN FISHERY TRADE	39
FEDERAL LEGISLATION, DECISIONS, ORDERS, ETC.	54
Department of Agriculture:
Fats and Oils	54
Canned Fish Set-aside	54
Civilian Production Administration:
Tin Containers	55
Department of the Interior:
Halibut Allocation	55
Office of Price Administration:
Air Transportation	56
RECENT FISHERY PUBLICATIONS	58